The edict to clean up the city was given our Wednesday afternoon, and within twelve hours the city jall contained an assortment of undesirables that gave the night jaller plenty to do. Judge Bowman issued a number of floaters in police court Thursday afternoon and by nightish the word had been passed around that an exodus had been passed around that an exodus had been ordered, with the result that in certain sections of the city extreme quiet prevailed.

The bail for women arrested on charges of immorality was raised by Judge Bowman to $300, with an alternative of six months in the city jail for those convicted. The police magistrate and Chief Barlow are determined that the rough clement shall be driven out of the city and all patrolmen and detectives have been ordered to clean up their beats.

The efforts of the police thus far have been extremely successful, and Thursday the outgoing trains carried about thirty persons who were formerly conspicuous in the tenderiofit.

The police found Mrs. Breymers hands had been tied, the big chest containing the silverware had been forced and several rooms were in disorder, making it appear as thought the tragedy had been part of a burglary. The police went to the conclinant's house late this evening. Investigation disclosed Schermerhoun lying under the bed with his threat cut. On the table in his room was found a note reading.

"My dear wife: I am not guilty—Frank."

Schermerhoun was too weak to make much of a statement. He did say, however, that he stood watching under a window of the Compton mansion while Shitro Chashn, Japanese builder, committed the deed. This statement, the police discredit, and say there is no doubt that schermerhoun strangled the governess to death following a criminal attack.

CANNOT ADVERTISE FOR LABORERS ACROSS WATER

No advertisement promising work for laborers in Salt Lake will appear in English periodicals by authority of the Salt Lake Real Estate association, and the original order sent some time ago has been canceled by cable, according to Edward F. Colburn, former president of the association. Mr. Colborn said last night that he was not present at the meeting of the association several weeks ago when it was decided to advertise for laborors in several weekles of the United States and one in London.

Later, he said, his attention was called to the fact that the United States immigration laws forbade such advertisements in foreign papers, and he immediately instructed J. L. Parkes, secretary of the association, to cancel the order by cable, and this was done last week.

USING TOLL GATE TO SECURE SETTLEMENT

Special to The Tribune.

RENO, Nev., Jan. 13.—In order to effect a proper settlement with the Tonopali Mining company and the Belment Mining company and the Belment Mining company, the officials of the Montana Tonopah at Tonopah yesterday erected a toll gate on the switch line over which the ore cars of the first-named company pass. This line was constructed by the Montana people shortly after the advent of the railroad into this campand at that time a toll rate was made. The Tonopah and Belmont companies have been paying $1 a car for the privilege of using this switch. The original rate was based on narrow-guage cars. Later, when the switch was standardized, no change was made in the toll rates. When the gates were erected yesterday, closing the traffic, local representatives of the Tonopah Mining company telegraphed to the head office at Philadelphia.
